Computerworld Names Jack Henry to 2023 List of Best Places to Work in IT

December 13, 2022

MONETT, Mo., Dec. 13, 2022 /PRNewswire/ -- Foundry's Computerworld announces Jack Henry as a 2023 Best Places to Work in IT. This award recognizes the top organizations that challenge their IT staffs while providing great benefits and compensation.

Jack Henry ranked 52nd in the large companies' category, marking the company's 11th year on the list.

"Our IT professionals are at the forefront of developing innovative solutions to help community and regional financial institutions successfully compete and meet the evolving needs of their customers," said Jack Henry Board Chair and CEO David Foss. "By investing in our associates and offering a challenging and rewarding work environment, we are able to attract and retain top industry talent. We are honored to once again be recognized by Computerworld as a best place to work."

"Adapting to a 'new normal' has put additional demands on IT organizations at companies of all sizes. This year's winning companies have stepped up with increased IT staffing and a variety of innovative professional development opportunities. The result of these efforts is that not only are IT staffs engaged and productive, but the entire business benefits from IT's ability to support evolving workplace models and changing business and customer needs," said Rob O'Regan, global director, content strategy, Foundry. "Importantly, this year's award winners are laser-focused on diversity initiatives to expand the IT talent pool and promote workplace diversity and inclusion."

About the Best Places to Work in IT
The Best Places to Work in IT list is an annual ranking of the top work environments for technology professionals by Foundry's Computerworld. The list is compiled based on a comprehensive questionnaire regarding company offerings in categories such as benefits, career development, DEI, future of work, training and retention. In addition, the rankings are reviewed and vetted by a panel of industry experts.
