Jack Henry makes list for 18th consecutive year

MONETT, Mo., Sept. 24, 2026 /PRNewswire/ -- Jack Henry® (Nasdaq: JKHY) announced today that it has been included in the 2026 IDC FinTech Rankings Top 25. The ranking recognizes technology companies worldwide that provide hardware, software, and services to the financial technology services industry.

Jack Henry ranked 13th on this year's list, marking the 18th consecutive year the company has been included.

"We're honored to be recognized again for delivering innovative technology made possible by our outstanding associates," said Jack Henry President and CEO Greg Adelson. "This inclusion is especially meaningful as we celebrate our 50th anniversary. We remain committed to delivering leading technology that helps banks and credit unions meet the evolving needs of their accountholders and win in the markets they serve."

The Fortune 500-style ranking categorizes and evaluates the top global providers of financial technology based on revenue generated from financial institutions for hardware, software, and services. These providers supply the technological backbone of the financial services industry, which IDC forecasts will exceed $1.1 trillion in worldwide IT spending by 2029[1].

"IDC has been producing the IDC FinTech Rankings for 24 years, providing a list of the largest 150 financial technology providers in the world," said Jerry Silva, Program Vice President at IDC. "The companies on this list provide the innovation necessary to keep the financial service industry at the forefront of providing modern digital experiences, technologies, and platforms across all banking, capital markets, and insurance organizations."
